Eldorado Women Picket School

Protest Closing Two Grades, Moving Pupils

Washington school in Eldorado was being picketed today by women of the Lincoln school area who were protesting the closing of the second and fourth grades at Lincoln and absorbing them in classes at Washington and Jefferson schools.

Yesterday afternoon 15 women, mothers of pupils, were in the line carrying banners declaring "We Want Action" and urging the board to follow the school zoning in the town.

This morning eight women started picketing at 9:15 a. m. at Washington school. They said that the picketing would be done in shifts, that people in the area other than mothers of pupils would join in the protest today. They said they would not picket during hours when children and teachers were going to and returning from school. School authorities said that the Appeal for Help In Replacing Fire Losses at Ledford

The Ledford Baptist church is appealing for help in replacing fire losses of Mr. and Mrs. James Hay, whose home and all their household goods and personal belongings burned at noon Tuesday. Mr. Hay was at work and Mrs. Hay had taken her seven year old daughter to school and had with her in the car their year old daughter when the fire started.

A shower to furnish them with clothing and household necessities will be held at the church Thursday at 7 p. m.

She is the daughter of Val Ledford, who owned the house which was one of the oldest in the area and was originally a log house, owned by the Stiff family, which had been remodeled and enlarged.

Four Persons Dead

Bomber Hits Homes

DAYTON, Ohio (AP) — One of the worst plane crashes in this aviation pioneer city took four lives and damaged seven homes Tuesday.

At dinner time in an East Side residential area a crippled Air Force B-25 bomber roared down, clipping the tops of four houses and bursting into flame.

move was made because of a decrease in school enrollment.

Mrs. Bob Finnie, one of the leaders of the movement, said that she had called State School Superintendent Vern Nickell at Springfield this morning to tell him that the board was meeting behind closed doors. She said Mr. Nickell told her that board meetings must be out in the open, that he would contact C. R. Gardner, county superintendent of schools, about the matter.

A member of the Eldorado city school board of education, however, emphatically denied that any of the school board meetings had been held behind closed doors.

"We hold regular meetings the last Thursday night of each month and they have always been open to the public," he said. "The next meeting will be this Thursday night. All of our meetings have been held the last Thursday night of the month except one in July when we met two weeks earlier to approve the budget. During the summer months we met in the offices of James Coleman, president of the board, at the Federal Wholesale Co., because they were air-conditioned, but we probably will resume meeting at the Washington school this month."

About thirteen children in each of the rooms were affected but Mrs. Finnie said that her second grade daughter was sitting in a third grade room at Lincoln, that she would not move her to another school, that about five other children in the second and fourth were also sitting in the third and fifth grades at Lincoln.

"If they would send the pupils to schools the way the town has been zoned, there would be plenty of pupils at Lincoln to hold classes," she stated.

The school board member explained the board's position this way: "We knew we had less enrollment in our schools this year but had to let school start and count noses to see what we had to do. When we saw there was small enrollment in the two grades at Lincoln and saw we could handle them at Washington and Jefferson, we transferred them to those schools." Most of the transfers were to Washington.

10-year-old daughter of Herbert Vanzant said.
"I saw something coming but I didn't know what it was. My uncle was out back cutting grass. Daddy and mother and my dog Fluffy were in the house."
Vanzant's wife, Elizabeth, about 40, and his brother-in-law, Walter Geisler, 53, were killed.
Also dead were the pilot, and co-pilot of the plane, Maj. James E. Melancon, 36, San Antonio, Tex., father of two, and Capt. Wilho R. Heikinen, 31, Ramsey, Mich.

The fliers, attached to the Air Research and Development Command, were coming in for a landing at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base when they crashed.

Fire Shotgun in Incident Over Custody of Baby

An incident over the custody of a baby, during which a shotgun was fired, occurred yesterday afternoon at the home of Arthur Gee, 712 West Dorris street, Chief of Police Ross Lane stated.

Mr. Gee pleaded guilty to a charge of discharging a firearm. He told police he fired the shotgun into the air.
Lane said Mr. and Mrs. Gee had had custody of Jerry Joseph Jasen, two-year-old son of their daughter, Dorothy Jasen, Detroit, since a short time after the baby was born. The Gees said they had verbal agreement that they could rear the child.

Yesterday Mrs. Jasen and her husband, Joseph, went to the Gee home to claim the child, and the incident resulted. The Jasens, however, got the child and returned to Detroit.

"It blew me clear out into the yard. When I got up, I was a little dizzy and started running toward the alley. Then I thought, 'My god, my wife and children are in there eating.'" Bishop's front porch was torn off but he got his family safely out of the house.
The plane tore the second story from the home of Harry Kidd. He and his wife and son were in the kitchen and were not injured. However, the son had just come downstairs when the plane sheared off the top story.

UN Assembly Bars Red China

The United States expressed pleasure today at the General Assembly's action barring Communist China from becoming a United Nations member for at least another year.

U. S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. said letting the Chinese Reds in would "dangerously threaten" the usefulness of the world body.

Lodge's resolution calling on the 12th General Assembly to bar debate on the issue this year was approved Tuesday night 47-27 with 7 abstentions.

It thus defeated a Soviet-backed proposal by India for a full-dress debate on the issue of replacing Nationalist China with Communist China.

Although the U. S. resolution polled the same number of votes as last year, the vote represented a slight loss of ground because the assembly has added three new members since. The most startling change was Ireland's switch to the Indian-Soviet side.

With the China issue disposed of for the year, the assembly returned today to the general debate in which each of its members expressed its views on world problems.

Kiwanis Club Visits Golish Music Company

Mitch Golish, who operates the Golish Music company on South Granger street and who has a thriving production of coin-operated small pool tables underway there, discussed the new enterprise before members of the Kiwanis club last night at the Masonic temple. Following the dinner meeting members of the club visited the Golish company where the tables are manufactured.

Mr. Golish stated that from seven to 15 men are employed in the production and the tables are being sold in Chicago and as far as Minnesota and Virginia.

President Dick Davenport announced the club has been invited to a ladies' night fellowship meeting by the Herrin club on Oct. 15. It is expected that the Harrisburg club will attend the meeting in a group, along with their wives.

Club members also completed plans for the sale of peanuts Saturday on National Kids' Day. All the funds raised will be used for the club's projects for children. A free show for kids will be held at the Grand theatre Saturday morning. Members of the HTHS Key club will assist in the peanut sale Saturday.

Dave Flota was a guest of President Davenport's at last night's meeting. Two members of the Key club also were guests at the meeting.

2,300 Acres of New Plantings in Shawnee Forest

Twenty-three hundred acres of new forest plantations were established on the Shawnee National Forest this year according to information furnished by L. P. Neff, Forest Supervisor, Harrisburg, Illinois. This boosts the planted area to 48,200 acres for the forest. Forty thousand acres of reforestation has been completed in Illinois and 8200 acres in Missouri.

These recent plantings are a part of a program which was initiated in the Civilian Conservation Corps days the purpose of which was to place every acre of forest land into maximum production.

In a recent sale to Alton Box Board Company of Alton, Ill., 50,000 acres that were planted to pines will be harvested from 15,000 acres that were planted to pine from 1936 to 1943. Subsequent thinnings which will be made in the future will yield posts, poles, and pine saw-timber.

Oust Hoffa, Union Told

Official Also Indicted by Federal Jury

NEW YORK (AP) — The AFL-CIO Executive Council today in effect ordered the Teamsters Union to remove James R. Hoffa from any union office within 30 days or face possible suspension from the federation.

The council also indicated to its largest affiliate that it must throw out retiring President Dave Beck and Vice Presidents Frank Brewster, Seattle, and Sidney L. Brennan, Minneapolis.

All four officials were found guilty of violating AFL-CIO antiracketeering codes in a 64-page "indictment" prepared by the council's ethical practices committee.

The council found that the 1,400,000-member trucking union is "dominated, controlled or substantially influenced in the conduct of its affairs by corrupt influences."

A federal grand jury indicted Hoffa on perjury charges earlier today. It accused the 44-year-old Midwest Teamster vice president of lying five times during an inquiry into alleged wiretapping involving the Detroit Teamsters local office.

Hoffa was in Miami, predicting his victory in the race for president.

One Man Hit in Head, Another Stabbed in Arm

Most of Crowd Watches in Silent Hostility

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Nine Negro children attended classes in Central High School today behind the bare-bayonets of 500 tough paratroopers who bashed one man in the head, stabbed another in the arm, and hustled dozens off to jail.

Integration became a fact at Central High at 9:22 a. m. At that hour, three Army vehicles rolled down the street, past small crowds of white segregationists, and into the school yard to deliver the nine Negro students.

A total of perhaps 500 white adults and teen-agers stood on sidewalks a block or more from the school throughout the morning. A few tested the determination of the troops — and were wounded or arrested for their efforts.

Most watched in silent hostility. None got anywhere near the school grounds. A solid cordon of paratroopers, standing with bayoneted rifles ready, saw to that. Bayonets Menace Groups Twice at least the steel-helmeted troops advanced menacingly with bayonets outthrust, toward groups which had spurned orders to disperse. Laggards suffered pinpricks in the generally hasty retreats that followed.

The grim-faced paratroopers were carrying out President Eisenhower's orders to end open defiance of a federal court's integration orders. These were major developments of Little Rock's first tense day under federal military occupation.

Maj. Gen. Edwin A. Walker, West Pointer commanding the troops, told white students of Central High at a special assembly that "I intend to use all means necessary to prevent any interference" with orderly integration. —Officials reported a "calm" situation inside the school with the Negro children attending their classes "in a completely normal way." In the middle of the morning, all of the students were marched out of the school in a

Compelled to Intervene

Mob Action in Arkansas Blot On Nation's Honor: Eisenhower

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower told the nation Tuesday night he was compelled to intervene with federal troops in the Arkansas integration crisis to uphold the law of the land against mob rule.

Eisenhower appealed to the people of Arkansas to help him end "extremist" resistance to allowing Negro children to attend Central High School in Little Rock. He said mob interference with a federal court's integration order was a blot on the nation's honor.

The President, who flew here Tuesday specifically to make the speech, planned to fly back to Newport, R. I., early today to await the outcome of his drastic move to prevent further interference with court-ordered integration in Little Rock.

Praised And Condemned

The Chief Executive was alternately praised and condemned for his use of federal troops — a seldom-invoked step that never before has been taken in the integration struggle.

Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.), leader of the (Senate) southern bloc, assailed the use of troops as "totalitarian." He predicted the President's order will have "a calamitous effect on race relations and on the cause of national unity."

A number of southern governors and political leaders, including so-called "moderates," expressed grave concern over the use of federal troops. Some denounced it as dictatorship.

Others expressed the view that Eisenhower had to send in the troops to prevent future defiance of the courts.

Risk Of Anarchy
Eisenhower's 13-minute speech, delivered in a solemn and unsmiling manner, outlined the seriousness of the Little Rock situation. He said unless he had acted "anarchy would result."

Casting the crowds that blocked Negro attendance at school as "disorderly mobs" led by "demagogic extremists," the President declared:

"Mob rule cannot be allowed to override the decisions of our courts."

Eisenhower asserted the federal troops are not being used to "revieve local and state authorities of their primary duty to preserve peace and order." He said they are in Little Rock solely to prevent interference with the integration orders issued by Federal Judge Ronald N. Davies.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Skeptics say the Bible is filled for a simple people is that nothing

Making Their Mark

Editorial — BY BRUCE EIOSSAT

Even those who question the worth of today's juvenile crime statistics or who favor a very soft approach toward youthful offenders are often either horrified or baffled at some of the things the kids are doing.

We all know the stories of senseless beatings and mutilation of individuals whose only provocation was that they happened to be passing by on the street, in the park, or in some hallway.

Some of these beatings are so savage that they suggest tensions of great force. They defy easy explanation.

By the same token, there is puzzlement over the wanton destruction that often passes for fun in some juvenile circles. Plenty of staggering examples have been offered in the past, but it is always illuminating to learn of recent vi-cinations.

Not long ago in New York a group of boys found their way to a basement garage where were parked a large number of new lightweight trucks. They amused themselves by driving the vehicles around the tightly confined space as fast as they could, crashing them into each other and into the stout concrete walls. The damage bill: $36,000.

It's becoming difficult to draw the line between a prank and a crime. In a country school the other day, a boy picked up a metal chair and fired it through a closed window.

Even nature does not escape the ravages of youthful maliciousness.
In New York's Central Park, a menace at night, and by day a kind of outdoor gym where the young marauders practice criminal calisthenics like mugging, you sometimes find slender saplings sawed off at waist height.

The open country is no haven from these depredations. One man had a sad tale to tell the local constable. He had a modest garden where he grew grapes, melons and tomatoes. One day he went out to find every melon smashed beneath a tomato reduced to pulp, and the grape vines ripped off their supporting wires.

A family which has enhanced its woods with rustic trails featuring log bridges, railings and stairways twice has found railings smashed and steps and bridges torn up. As they splashed in deep ravines, the ripped-up logs afforded a handful of boys a short laugh.

So whether you stand on the sweating streets of the city or in the deep, cool woods, there is no security today against the young destroyers. Percentage-wise they may be few in number. But they manage to make their mark—and a wild stroke it is—almost everywhere.

Possibly it is not unreasonable to hope that Americans someday soon will turn from their preoccupations of many sorts and take the problem seriously in hand.

"Some People Out Here Heard You Were Staying On"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

(Editor's Note: Drew Pearson is reporting on the U. S.
6th Fleet maneuvers in the Mediterranean.)

DREW PEARSON SAYS:
U. S. Carriers Operate With Amazing Precision; Parking
Planes On Carriers Is A Lot
Tougher Than Parking Cars Downtown; Crew Of USS
Roosevelt Drinks 100,000 Cups
Of Coffee Daily.

ABOARD USS FRANKLIN D.
ROOSEVELT—At 5:30 this morning a call to battle stations sounded over the ship's loud speaker.
I fumbled my way on deck in my pajamas. On the way I looked in the galley and asked the Filipino mess boy:

"What's the alarm for?"
"This is exercise in case of war."

"What are you doing?"
"Making coffee."
"Don't you have to go on deck and fight?"

"Later. Men need coffee in case of war too."

The Mediterranean was warm and balmy in the early grey dawn, not a ripple, much too pleasant for war. Shadowy figures passed me in the dark, going to battle stations. Close by they manned a 3-inch gun. Some of them looked groggy for lack of sleep, and I learned later that they had been working almost round the clock, as men on a warship must in peacetime battle maneuvers, as well as war.

The 5-inch guns below me began pointing up, down, fore and aft, as at an approaching enemy.
On the flight deck a jet sky-raider warmed up, felt the jerk of the catapult and roared off the ship to watch for enemy planes. The force of the air, backwashed from the jet, almost knocked me over.
The crew launching her, lay flat on deck or ducked to the catwalk below. One man who crawled beneath her to release the holding cable, rolled over and over to get out of the steam, then covered his face with his arms to escape the heat. This was routine. He wore a special headgear with goggles and soundproof ear muffs. Even at a distance, the heat was terrific.

A British Canberra had been located forty miles from the U. S.
6th Fleet formation, near enough to drop an atomic bomb. Fortunately she was British — not Russian — from the NATO fleet off Malta. Approaching at 500 miles an hour, she had to be intercepted, and jet after jet zoomed off the Roosevelt's flight deck, an average of a minute apart, to search the grey Mediterranean for this simulated enemy.

Off the starboard side, a helicopter began to dance low over the water, like a sea-gull barely skimming the waves. Called an "angel," it stays in the air to rescue men when the carrier is launching planes. But there were no men to rescue and the copter did a hop-skip-and jump over the water like a school girl at recess time.

A dove flew onto the gun turret just below me. We were a long way from either Greece or Italy and it must have flown many miles, it looked tired. The gun-ner's mate held out his hand — a friendly hand—but the dove flew off. In contrast to the dancing heli-copter, it could hardly move.

Soon it came back, tried to light on a radio antenna, couldn't make it, finally fluttered onto a lower deck. No place for a dove to rest in the tense, suspicious Near East except a warship. That may be symbolic.

Things I didn't know before about an airplane carrier—Toughest job on a carrier is parking planes. If you think parking your car downtown is tough, take a look at the problem of Lt. Com.
A. E. Monahan, Coeur D'Alene Idaho, flight deck officer of the Roosevelt. He has 70 planes to juggle around, can't keep any of them on the runways, has to park them with split second timing as homing jets land on the carrier minutes apart. . . . Monahan operates a chart nicknamed "The Weeje Board" which tells him where each plane is, whether it's fueled, being repaired, whether the wing tanks are to be fueled etc.

... Operations on the flight deck move like clockwork. They have to. A mistake means a life. Every man has his job, and his jersey is colored to designate that job. A man handling gasoline, fire - extinguisher or ordnance wears a red jersey. A man wearing green handles the catapult and launching gears; blue are pushers to get planes off the deck; orange are plane haulers who drive little tractors like baggage men in a railroad station.
Yellow is worn by flight directors, while brown by maintenance captains. K. E. Humphries, Riv-erton, Wyo., showed me how he made sure a Banshee was in good shape before he turned her over to the pilot, had to sign a statement to that effect.

Things you may not know about carriers—Salt water is pumped into the bottom of gasoline tanks as the gas is pumped out. This is to prevent gas fumes and explosions in the half empty tanks.
The salt water remains in the bottom, doesn't mix with the gasoline. . . . The flight deck of the FDR is so broad it equals the width of the Queen Mary and Queen Elizabeth placed side-by-side. . . . The repair and maintenance deck of the FDR looks like the biggest garage in the world.
... The crew of the FDR consumes 16,630 loaves of bread per day, almost no tea, 62,500 cups of milk per day, and 23,750 pounds of meat. . . . The man responsible for making this edible is Chief Cook

Smokey Says:

Ralph Potito, formerly of Boston, now from St. Petersburg, Fla. He has 175 men under him, including bakers Paul Raddatz of Annapolis and Frank Thompson of Pensacola who bake better butter-scotch pies than I've ever eaten ashore. . . . According to airman Ed Brock, Lake Charles, La., sailors are reading about as much history as fiction. When the FDR lands in Athens, Rome, Istanbul, there's a run on the ship's library for history books about those countries. . . . It takes three barbershops to cut the hair of the FDR's 3,000-man crew, a cobbler's shop to repair their shoes, four ship's stores, a tailor's shop, two soda fountains, one dry cleaning plant, to say nothing of four doctors. . . . The ship's power plant is capable of providing electricity to 4,000,000 homes.

Hopping off and on carriers — Watching 14 jet fighters and bombers land at night aboard the FDR holds a land-lubber like me in breathless suspense. I couldn't even understand how the pilots could see to hit the deck. According to Lt. Com. Frank Thigpen, Greensboro, Ala., and Lt. Ernest Delmanowski, LaSalle, Ill., however, it's fairly simple. They flew me on and off the carrier.
As you approach the carrier, you get a sensation of swooping down or a very thin strip of floating steel. You get closer and closer, so fast you don't know what's happening. The flight deck comes up at you. It hits you—or rather you hit it. There's a screeching noise as the arresting wire, which catches a hook behind the plane, pulls you to a stop — and you've landed on a carrier. After you've done it once it seems as simple as the pilots say it is, but it isn't. It takes some of the most skilled pilots in our armed services to fly these carriers, and it's significant that Admiral C. H. "Dutch" Duer-feldt, commander of the 6th Fleet carrier squadron, still flies off and one the carriers he commands.

Arkansas claims more navigable rivers than any other state, with about 3,000 miles of waterways.

Main Street, Not Wall Street, Owns Standard of Indiana

There are 24,557 stockholders of Standard Oil Company in the State of Illinois.

Three and a half as many of the company's stockholders live in small and medium-sized cities, and in town, in suburbs, and on farms, as in the 25 largest cities of the United States.

More than half of Standard's stockholders live in the 15 middle west states where the company markets.

Women shareholders substantially outnumber men.

These facts, according to A. C. Bradley, Decatur Division manager for Standard, are revealed in the last geographical survey of 143,200 stockholders of Standard Oil Company (Indiana), the largest number in its history. In 1912, the company's first year as a separate and independent organization, it had 5,075 stockholders. In 1927 there were 55,470 and in 1945 the figure was 97,170.

There are 17 cities in the U. S. having 1,000 or more Standard stockholders each. Chicago, where the company has its general office and largest sales division office, has the largest number, 11,629 New York follows with 7,045.

Employees constitute a large group of stockholders. Aside from separate personal holdings, all employees in the company-sponsored savings plan are having stock credited to their accounts. During 1956, employees chose to put 77 per cent of their own savings under the plan into company stock.

Sneed-Barton Wedding at McLeansboro

Mr. and Mrs. John G. Barton

Miss Alma Sneed, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marion I. Sneed, 604 North Washington street, McLeansboro, was married to John G. Barton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Guy T. Barton, Galatia, at 8 o'clock on Sept. 3. Rev. Olive Rice performed the ceremony before the altar of the First Baptist church in McLeansboro, decorated with tall candelabras bearing burning tapers and flowers and greenery.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a white sheer wedding gown, fashioned with a scooped neckline bordered with heavy Venice lace, outline embroidered with sequins and tiny seed pearls. The fitted bodice was closed in the back with small buttons. The bouffant skirt, worn over crinolines, was complimented with panels outlined with the pearl and sequin embroidered Venice lace, and ending in a sweep train. Her fingertip-length veil of illusion was secured to a pillbox of sequins and seed pearls. She wore a gold bracelet that had been worn by her grandmother at her wedding. Her bouquet was a cascade of white orchids, stephanotis and ivy.

Miss Marilyn Sneed, sister of the bride, wore a pale yellow waltz length dress of sheer material, that had a square neckline, and featured a wide sash ending in a bow at the back. Her headpiece matched the sash and her bouquet was of bronze spider chrysanthemums and ivy.

Miss Madonna Moore and Miss Elizabeth Gholson wore duplicate dresses and headpieces and carried yellow spider chrysanthemum bouquets, identical to that of the maid of honor.

Connie Joan Aydt and Lee Ann Ogdon served as flower girls, carrying baskets of rose petals. Kay Sneed, sister of the bride, and Mary Sue Barton, sister of the bridegroom, were candlelighters. Marion Sneed Jr., was the ring bearer.

Stephen Bell acted as the best man for the bridegroom.

Richard Ogdon, Charlie Ritchey and Earl Muir were ushers.

Mrs. R. E. Chapman played the wedding marches and accompanied Larry Scriber of Belle River, cousin of the bride, who sang "O Sweet Mystery of Life," "At Dawning" and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride's mother wore a beige dress and hat with black patent leather accessories. Her corsage was of bronze cymbidium orchids.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a navy blue dress and a white hat for her son's wedding, worn with black patent leather accessories. She wore a corsage of pink cymbidium orchids.

There was a reception in the church annex immediately following the wedding.

The bride is a graduate of MTHS, class of 1957.

Mr. Barton is a graduate of MTHS, class of 1954, and is a senior at the U. of I. in the School of Engineering. He is a member of Pi Tau Sigma fraternity.

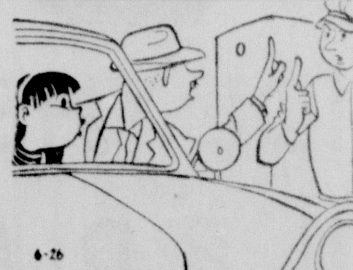

Mr. and Mrs. Barton are at home to their friends at 206 1-2 South Orchard street, Urbana.

Boy Scout Finance Campaign to Begin In Harrisburg on Oct. 15

Preparing for the tremendous growth of the Boy Scout movement is one of the primary goals of the Illinois Coordinated Boy Scout Finance campaign, which will take place in Harrisburg starting October 15.

The fund-raising campaign has as its goal contributions sufficient to finance an expanded program in 1958.

A large growth in membership during the past year resulted in over 6,000 boys and leaders in Southern Illinois enjoying and benefiting from the Boy Scout program.

according to Bob Rushing, finance campaign chairman for Harrisburg. Plans for 1958 are largely devoted to organization of many more Cub Packs, Boy Scout Troops and Explorer Units, so that many more boys can be members.

More than 3,300,000 boys in the United States are now enrolled in some phase of the Scouting movement—as Cub Scouts, in the age group of 8 through 10; as Boy Scouts, from 11 through 13, or as Explorers in the age group of 14 years and upward. This means that in the average area one boy out of every four of Scouting age is in Scouting.

In Southern Illinois, the territory covered by the Egyptian Council, only one boy out of nine of Scouting age is in Scouting. "If we are to provide Scouting for more boys, coupled with an expanded program geared to offer the full benefits of the Scouting experience to all members, it must be financed by the generous contributions of Harrisburg people," Mr. Rushing said today. Many local men and women are being organized to conduct the local finance campaign.

Scouting's contribution to good citizenship has been noted by Pres. Delyte W. Morris of Southern Illinois University who comments that "There is no better observation point for character development and citizenship training than on a university campus. I am happy to report to you that my observations show that among the finest young men on the campus are many who have enjoyed the advantages of Scout training. In campus leadership and service to the university, these students tend to excel. Many members of our faculty are taking an active part in the Scouting program and join me in urging the citizens of Illinois to give generously to campaigns, for the support of the Egyptian Council of the Boy Scouts of America."

Miss Dorris Butterworth and Max Dwayne Vinyard Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. Max Dwayne Vinyard

Miss Dorris Butterworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Butterworth, Harrisburg RFD 3, and Max Dwayne Vinyard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ersel Vinyard, were married in the Saline Ridge Baptist church at 8 o'clock Sept. 14. The Rev. J. J. Evitts performed the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with tall candelabras bearing burning white tapers and baskets of gladioli and greenery rising from the floor covering of bridal white.

The bride's father gave her in marriage.

She wore a ballerina length wedding gown, fashioned of misty sheer nylon jersey, over nylon net shirred at the waistline. Her lace jacket had a V-neckline in the back and was closed with a trio of satin bows. She wore a veil of illusion, elbow length, and a necklace and earrings of blue moonstones, sent to her from Okinawa by her brother, Glendell Butterworth. She carried a bouquet of white baby chrysanthemums tied with blue streamers, on her white Bible.

Mrs. Donna Teal, cousin of the bride, was her matron of honor and wore a princess style dress of light blue brocade material. Her bouquet was of white chrysanthemums.

Lendon Vinyard, Maywood, brother of the bridegroom, acted as his best man.

Ushers were Carl Teal and John Young.

The bride's mother wore a navy blue ensemble with white accents and her corsage was of white chrysanthemums.

The mother of the bridegroom chose a black and white print dress for her son's wedding and she wore a white chrysanthemum corsage.

John Shork and Miss Shirley Karnes sang solos, "Through the Years" and "The Lord's Prayer." Immediately following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Vinyard left for a honeymoon trip through Kentucky. They are at home to their friends at 109 N. Almond street, Carbondale, where Mr. Vinyard is attending SIU and Mrs. Vinyard will resume her work as a telephone operator.

Mr. Vinyard was graduated from the Equality high school, and has completed three years study at SIU.

His bride was graduated from HTHS in the class of 1956.

Out-of-town guests who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Lendon Vinyard, Maywood; Ray Vinyard, St. Louis, Mo.; Glendell Butterworth, USN, stationed at Alameda, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Ladley and family, Carmi, and Cecil McAnally and daughter of Rosiclar.

United Friendship Club Meets With Ethel Colbert

The United Friendship club met in the home of Ethel Colbert Sept. 10. Louise Johnson, president, called the meeting to order and Jeanne Pritchett collected the membership dues. Ethel Colbert was awarded the Banner for this month and Jeanne Pritchett won the door prize. There were games and prizes for the members.

The supper was potluck and soft drinks were served.

The next meeting will be Oct. 8, and will be a Halloween potluck supper. Joyce Grubbs, 2221 Eldorado Ave., will be the hostess. All members were present and guests: Alma J. Garrett, Anna Lavern Kaid and daughter, Donna June, Debbie Pritchett and Sammie James Grubbs, attended.

Miss Edith Peterson of Washington, D. C., who has been visiting her cousin, Miss Bernice Peterson, for the past week, left today for Kewanee, Ill. She will visit there before returning to Washington.

Mrs. J. B. Blackman, Charter Member, Conducts Woman's Club Program

Mrs. J. B. Blackman, charter member, was chairman for the Woman's club at its regular meeting Monday. The subject for the meeting was Law Observance and Legislation and Judge Trafton Dennis addressed the group on that phase of the law which deals with wills and legacies.

Judge Dennis presented the basic principles of wills which he said are designed to protect the rights of individuals and the public good. He pointed out that the laws governing the willing of property do not remain static, and that changed relationships, such as marriage, of ten make an old will no longer a legal instrument and a new one is required to make a "proper" disposition of the property, also that taxes govern, to a great extent, the best disposition of property by a will.

Following his speech, he answered questions for the group, including one of Miss Bess Pemberton, to whom he had paid a gracious tribute, as a former student to a respected teacher, at the beginning of his discourse.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. W. W. Damm, and the business of the group included the reading and approving of the minutes by Mrs. Hugh Walker, secretary, and Mrs. Roscoe Metcalf's report of the treasurer, filed for audit.

Mrs. Ray Johnson, first vice president, led the pledge of allegiance to the flag and Mrs. William Biggers gave the meditation, based on the importance of how we spend our allotted time on earth. The music portion of the program, featured solos by Miss Elizabeth Klein playing the accordion, and clarinet trio played by Ruth Ann Bramlet, Billy Joe Kowitz and Roberta Keltner, introduced by W. W. Chunn and playing selections from Hadyn and Mozart. Miss Klein is a pupil of Mrs. Ruth Thompson. Hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. Glynn McCormack, Mrs. M. P. McDonald and Mrs. Preston L. Wettaw.

Here Are Some Nicer Moments Life Often Gives

BY RUTH MILLETT
NEA Staff Writer

Some of life's nicer surprises: Meeting a friend you haven't seen in years and finding that you are as comfortable with each other as though time and distance had never come between.

Discovering that a person you had always thought aloof and self-centered is simply shy.

Finding that you can do something for which you never thought you had the ability or courage.

Going to a party because you "couldn't get out of it" and having a wonderful time.

Doing something from a sense of duty and discovering that it actually wasn't much trouble.

Deciding to do something about a problem you thought couldn't be licked and discovering the solution. Tackling a job skeptics assure you can't be done and doing it in spite of their predictions.

Finding that after just a few days of "getting away from it all" you are eager to go back to work.

Receiving an unexpected compliment at a time when you badly need a lift.

Opening a letter expecting bad news—and finding good news instead.

Discovering that you don't feel a bit different after passing a birthday you had dreaded because it had been built up in your mind as a depressing milestone.

Finding that you have something in common with the stranger you have just met.

Night Class in Driver Training At Carrier Mills

A night class in highway safety and driver training will be offered to Carrier Mills area adults during the next 12 weeks by Southern Illinois University's Division of Technical and Adult Education.

Registration for the non-credit course will be held Monday (Sept. 30) from 7-9 p. m. at Carrier Mills Community high school, which is cooperating in the program.

Weekly class sessions will be held at the high school on Mondays from 7-9 p. m., the first meeting to follow registration.

Total fees are $12.70, which includes tuition and car expense. Illinois veterans may provide the registrar with a photostatic copy of discharge papers in lieu of cash to cover payment.

The course will cover highway rules and safety methods, part of it taking place in the classroom and part in actual "behind the wheel" instruction. A dual-control driver education car will be used.

Free Ice Cream

INDIANAPOLIS — (UP)—Grocer Lloyd Jones became the most popular man in his neighborhood the day his freezer broke down. "The ice cream was getting soft, and I couldn't see pouring it out, so I started giving it to the kids," Jones said.

Aim at Easing Tension

Report Nasser and Syrian President To Join King Saud in Damascus Talks

By United Press
Aides of King Saud of Saudi Arabia said today in Rome that President Gamal Abdel Nasser would join Saudi and Syrian President Shukri El Kuwaty in Damascus talks aimed at easing Middle East tension.
Saud, who apparently is taking on the role of mediator in the dispute between Syria and the United States, left Rome by plane today for a three-day visit in the Syrian capital.
There were rumors other Arab leaders might join the Arab "big three" in the Damascus talks.
Saud conferred in Rome with the secretary general of the Arab League and was seen off at the airport by ambassadors and representatives of Syria, Morocco, Egypt, Libya, Sudan, Iraq, Tunisia and Jordan.
The Damascus newspaper Alrai

Alaam said today the Soviet Union had renewed its assurances to Syria in case of "anti-Syrian aggression."

The pro-socialist newspaper said it will not be confined to regional limits, but that Russia had promised aggression would not reach its objectives.

Saud's Damascus talks followed conversations in Washington between his brother, Crown Prince Feisal, and President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles. Feisal is foreign minister and premier of Saudi Arabia.

An indication that Saudi Arabia hoped to mediate in the dispute came from Washington where Feisal told reporters Tuesday the situation in Syria is not dangerous despite reports to the contrary.

U. S. Virtually Completes Building New Streamlined Army in Europe

HEIDELBERG, Germany (U.P.)—The United States has virtually completed building its new army in Europe, streamlined and highly mobile for modern atomic warfare, Gen. Henry I. Hodes disclosed today.

A headquarters spokesman said the atomic-age army will have a "killing power potential almost beyond calculation."

Since last June, quietly and without fanfare, Hodes has carried out the most drastic revamping ever undergone by the 200,000-man U. S. force that guards the Iron Curtain border in Europe. Its combat spearhead is the 165,000-man U. S. 7th Army.

The job consisted of the reorganization of five "conventional" divisions into so-called "pentomic" divisions—flexible, highly mobile units capable of operating independently on vast, fluid atomic battlefields.

Hodes, commander-in-chief of U. S. forces in Europe, told the United Press in an exclusive interview at his headquarters here that conversion of the 11th Airborne, the 8th and 10th Infantry and the 2nd Armored divisions already is completed. The 3rd armored division will be converted in the near future.

"The result," Hodes said, "is a new army, a different army. It has lost none of its combat capabilities... the infantry divisions have been pared from 17,000 to 13,700 and the airborne division from 17,000 to 11,400."

"But there has been no appreciable cut in 7th Army's overall strength, because most of the troops pulled out... are moved into supporting units to handle the new atomic weapons we now have."

Hodes said the army packs an atomic punch "that defies description."

Paratroopers Escort Negroes Into School

fire drill. The nine Negroes, scattered widely among the student body, could be seen chatting amiably with the white students. Defies Soldier's Order

C. E. Blake, a white man, was struck in the forehead with a rifle but when he defied a "move on" order. Blood gushed over Blake's shirt. Paul Downs, 35, a white salesman, was slashed in the muscle of one arm for telling a trooper "I'm from the South. I move kind of slow." He returned to the scene after treatment at a hospital, and was promptly arrested.

Three white men tabbed as agitators were seized by six paratroopers who obeyed the shouted commands of a sergeant: "Keep those bayonets at their necks... right at their throats." Other arrests were made swiftly and quietly as the operations officer, Maj. James Meyers of San Antonio, Tex., passed the word: "If they want to get tough, we'll get tough."

The Negro children arrived in a green army station wagon, conveyed for and aft by jeeps of troops. The convoy roared down the street, past a crowd of perhaps 200 white civilians who had been kept at a distance of one block from the school, and drove directly to the door of the school. SH RDLaaon c... is 3ts. ETAO

The nine students got out of the station wagon and walked quietly into the building to their classrooms. Classes had been under way about half an hour when they arrived.

Shortly before the Negro children showed up, a squad of eight paratroopers, with bayonets pointed menacingly forward, drove back a crowd of 115 persons who had snickered derisively when an officer ordered them over loudspeakers to disperse.

A few white students left the school building after the Negroes arrived. They trickled out by ones and twos. United Press reporter James Flinchum on the scene counted eight who had departed by 10 a. m.

Daily Inspection Prevents Escape at Perry County Jail

PINCKNEYVILLE, Ill. (U.P.)—Sheriff Joseph Shirk, who says his jail needs improvements, gives the 100-year-old Perry County Jail a daily inspection to be on the safe side.

Tuesday, the inspection paid off. Shirk said Robert Frank Thomas, 23, of Detroit, and Robert John Hudson, 19, of Roseville, Mich., had dug 11 inches into a soft wall after ripping off a radiator.

"They were within two rows of brick of being out," Shirk said.

The two men are awaiting grand jury action on burglary charges.

Spurned for Younger Man, Retired Baker Kills Woman, Self

CHICAGO (U.P.)—A retired baker killed a 62-year-old woman who had spurned him in favor of a man 10 years his junior, then shot and killed himself, police said today.

Dead are John Orloski, 72, and the woman he courted for nine years, Miss Antoinette Skierkowski.

Police said Orloski, apparently in a rage over Miss Skierkowski's decision to marry John Piekarski, 65, shot her twice at her home Tuesday night, then shot himself in the head. Orloski was taken to St. Elizabeth's Hospital where he died.

Mental Patient Held After Call In Grimes Case

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Police today held an ex-mental patient who they said telephoned Mrs. Loretta Grimes, telling her he knew who killed her two daughters and the whereabouts of the girls' clothing.

Police said Michael Dugan, 39, admitted making the call Tuesday saying he wanted to "help her."

Dugan said "some man in Cicero" had told him he knew where the girls' clothing was, but that he didn't know himself.

Mrs. Grimes' daughters, Barbara, 15, and Patricia, 13, disappeared from home last Dec. 28. Their naked bodies were found in a roadside ditch in southwest Cook County Jan. 22.

Three detectives happened to be in Mrs. Grimes' home when Dugan called. They traced the call and arrested him at his home.

Dugan was brought to Mrs. Grimes so she could identify his voice.

She said his voice was similar to that of a man who phoned her last May, telling her he knew who killed her daughters and that he helped undress them.

The May caller also told Mrs. Grimes about a physical deformity on Barbara's toes known only to the Grimes family.

Dugan entered Elgin State Hospital last Feb. 25 and was conditionally released a month and a half ago.

Police said Dugan's wife, Joyce, told them her husband mentioned the Grimes case when the bodies were found but that she thought nothing of it.

Meanwhile authorities pressed their investigation in the Judith Mae Anderson murder case. Judith Mae, 15, disappeared Aug. 16. Her dismembered body was found in two oil drums in Montrose harbor Aug. 22 and 24.

Police said they had one suspect under surveillance and were searching for another possible suspect.

Nuclear Blasts By Britain, Russia

LONDON (U.P.)—Britain exploded today the second atomic device in its current test series at the Maralinga Proving Grounds in Australia.

The other two world atomic powers, the United States and Soviet Russia, also are carrying out nuclear weapons tests.

Russia, according to the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission in Washington, detonated a nuclear weapon in the "megaton range" north of the Arctic Circle Tuesday.

State's Rights Forces Rally Behind Two Southern Proposals

SEA ISLAND, Ga. (U.P.)—State's rights forces in the southern governors conference rallied today behind two proposals they hope will get federal troops out of Little Rock and bring mediation of the entire school integration problem in a meeting with President Eisenhower.

Democratic members of the 16-state conference began lining up behind separate proposals by Gov. Luther Hodges of North Carolina and Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee. The three Republicans among the 12 governors still in attendance at the conference here appeared to be against them.

The southern Democrats stunned by the most crucial state-federal conflict in recent decades, abruptly moved to step into the boiling integration controversy in a body. Tennessee Gov. Frank Clement said it is "more imperative than ever" that his plan for a meeting between a southern governors committee and Eisenhower be held promptly to prevent the conflict from being settled "in the streets of Little Rock and others of our cities with guns and bayonets."

Hodges put forth a proposal he said had the support of Arkansas Gov. Orval Faubus. It would ask Eisenhower to notify Faubus that maintenance of law and order in Arkansas and all other states is the state's responsibility and that the federal government would step in only if state forces failed. In effect, it suggests giving Faubus another chance to deal with the Little Rock situation himself.

Gov. Le Roy Collins of Florida and Gov. Marvin Griffin of Georgia implied their support of the Clement proposal and there were other expressions of support for the Hodges resolution.

But Republican Gov. Theodore McKeldin of Maryland said he would vote against the Hodges' proposal "or any other resolution which even suggests the possibility of President Eisenhower's improper or unwarranted exercise of federal power." Similar action was indicated by Republicans Cecil Underwood of West Virginia and Caleb Boggs of Delaware.

In Japan, there is no jury trial. Three judges pass the sentence on Girard's guilt or innocence. Kawauchi has been criticized by the Japanese for making similar statements in other trials he presided over—especially before all the testimony was taken.

In Tuesday's court session Spl-3 Victor Nickel, Inkster, Mich., testified that Girard lured Mrs. Sakai to pick up empty cartridge shells and then shot her in the back as "a joke" as she ran away. "Of course, you must keep in mind that Nickel is a prosecution witness and his testimony was bound to be disadvantageous to Girard," the judge told United Press correspondent Day Inoshita who was the only reporter attending the actual hearing.

The prosecution insists the shooting was deliberate, the defense accidental. If the court finds Girard deliberately killed Mrs. Sakai he could get up to 20 years in prison. If it rules it was an accidental killing he could get a two or three year suspended sentence.

Thursday's session will be held in the Maebashi district court building.

Bankers Urge Fight on Easy Money Pressure

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (U.P.)—President Eisenhower and the board chairman of United States Steel Corp. differed sharply today over whether the administration has conquered inflation.

Eisenhower, in a brief message to the 83rd annual convention of the American Bankers Assn., said "We are meeting the challenge of inflation."

But Roger M. Blough of U. S. Steel told the bankers his firm's experience was "each year we hope to recover this ground that inflation has cost us; and we are still hoping. But we haven't made it yet."

Blough's stand was echoed by the bankers themselves, who passed a special resolution on "the inflation problem."

In it, the ABA called on government money authorities "in the current situation to resist pressures from particular groups for easy money and credit whenever signs of a slackening in their segment of the economy begin to appear."

Eisenhower said "the demand for funds to finance expansion in all parts of the country has exerted strong upward pressure on prices."

"But with your assistance in helping citizens understand the importance of sound money and the need for strong credit policies, we are meeting the challenge of inflation," he added.

Stevenson Approves Eisenhower Decision On Arkansas Crisis

CHICAGO (U.P.)—Adlai E. Stevenson has approved President Eisenhower's decisions in the Arkansas crisis and said he hopes "the President will now mobilize the nation's conscience as he has mobilized its arms."

Stevenson, twice defeated by Eisenhower in presidential elections, said Tuesday, "At this point the President had no choice. The combination of lawless violence and the governor's irresponsible behavior have created a crisis which Arkansas is powerless to meet."

MORE EAST ST. LOUIS GIRL SCOUTS visit area scenic spots. The second group of East St. Louis Girl Scouts visited this area Saturday and the group at left is shown descending the steps at Bell Smith Springs. The group above is shown at Alligator Cave in Ferne Clyffe State park. More than a hundred girls were on the trip and during the next few weeks a total of more than 1,000 girls will make the trip.

I SPURRED the gelding. He jumped and scrambled down the slope and I still spurred him and I yelled any crazy thing that came to me, yelled at Blanchard, yelled at Dorsey, cursed out the Clements and Cole Jethroe and those stubborn fools of buffaloes. The gelding flew and I headed him straight for Dorsey. At the bottom of the slope, the thunder of the herd behind me came up strong. I heard it plain but I didn't think much about it or worry. I knew it was a minute late for that. I reined straight for Dorsey, hard as the horse would go. Fifty yards away, I saw Blanchard get to Dorsey and throw himself off the horse. But his horse wouldn't stand and he had to grab for a line and I knew he needed me. No horse wanted to stand with that herd coming on through the dark dust.

I leaped down before the gelding stopped. I grabbed the line on Blanchard's horse.

"Got him!" I yelled. "Throw him up!"

Blanchard jumped to Dorsey. He lifted him like he was nothing and ran to his horse and threw him up behind the cattle. Both horses danced and snorted, their eyes wide and white, and it was all I could do to hold them close. Dorsey was tied and Blanchard pulled a knife from his saddle to cut him loose. I looked west at the brown, swirling shape. So close, so terrible close. Blanchard saw it, too. He jumped into the saddle. I let his horse go and clambered up on the gelding.

"Head up, Pike!" he yelled.

Blanchard wheeled, holding Dorsey with one hand, reining with the other. His bay broke upslope. Blanchard spurring, and I sent the gelding right behind. I heard the sharp clatter of the lead bulls' dew claws as they charged down on us. I heard the solid beat of them running.

But I didn't look. I could hear how close they'd got. It was enough to die under them without watching them come at you, a thousand sharp, tearing hoofs, half a thousand ripping horns, enough weight to grind the prairie sod. I felt the horse under me run fast but not fast enough. I saw Blanchard's back hunched over and Dorsey hanging over the bay's flanks ahead of me, bouncing.

My gelding veered and I nearly fell off.

THEN Blanchard grabbed my gelding by the bridle and held him. I turned and saw the herd passing below, the closest animals 40 feet down the slope. Then the dust rolled up to us until we couldn't see the buffaloes but could smell and hear their going. The noise dropped away but the smell stayed and then, slow, the dust lifted from us.

The herd was gone. I could hear the buffaloes beating through The Narrows.

And Blanchard was alive and so was I and I thought Pete Dorsey was. Being alive was a new feeling.

Blanchard was on the ground watching a bunch of riders by the river. They milled, waiting. Some talk floated up but not clear. I'd been fighting the buffaloes, not the Clements. A rider headed out from the bunch and rode easy toward us. I recognized Dan Clement.

Then like thunder he broke the growing quiet, yelling and spurring at us, waving a hand gun.

I crawled down fast and Blanchard handed me his reins. He stepped out from between the horses and walked 20 feet to the west. He got down on one knee and waited. Dan came roaring 50 feet away, leaning over the horse's neck, his gun sending fire through the night. Puffs of dust rose around Blanchard where he crouched, a gun in his right hand.

"Shoot, Harney!" I screamed.

He did. Once and twice, he shot. Dan kept coming but he stopped shooting. His horse charged past Blanchard close and Dan slipped out of the saddle and rolled, then stopped, spraddled on the slope. Dan's horse went right on digging up the rise.

I HEARD a strange sound. It was Dorsey, moaning. I wondered if he'd been hit but I didn't have time to see because another rider broke out of the bunch and rode toward us. But this one didn't come fast and he didn't come far. He held up at the bottom of the slope and I saw the moon bounce off a rifle barrel.

I yelled, "He's got a rifle! Hold back!"

Blanchard was already moving down the slope, crouched as he ran. The rider below was on a gray horse; it looked like one Eric Clement rode. So Eric had let Dan come roaring up the slope to die but he wouldn't do it himself. I saw him lift the rifle and saw the spit of flame and I knew Blanchard was in bad trouble. Eric was too far for a hand gun but he had good range for his rifle. Blanchard would have to face half a dozen bullets before he got close enough to shoot.

There was nothing else to do, nothing but to pull my new Sharps from the scabbard. I let the reins drop and put the rifle up to my eye. I was shaking. I bit blood from my lips but I stopped the shaking. I squeezed against the trigger and the gun gave me a good jolt in the shoulder.

Eric's horse wheeled, with Eric slumped over the pommel, and ran toward the river. At the bank, the

Ridgway Woman's Club Opens Fall Season with Dinner at Barter Home

The Ridgway Woman's club met in the home of Mrs. Charles Barter Monday night for a dinner meeting, opening the fall season. Snowy linens, gleaming silver and sparkling glassware made each table for four a setting for the single rose in its center. These roses and the flower arrangements, grown by the club members and ranging in color from deepest red to the softest yellows and white, would make it appear that a garden club was holding an exhibition. The blended colors of the rose centerpiece on the dining room table was repeated in the colorful foods, the golden brown of the fried chicken, the rich yellows of the sweet potatoes and crisp greens of the relishes and salads.

Following the dinner, the meeting was called to order by Mrs. Sam Bodger, president. The members stood and pledged allegiance to the flag. The business of the meeting included the distribution of the new year books, designed and printed by a son of one of the members. An expression of appreciation was shown by the motion to present the maker with a gift, since he had made no charge for his work.

Mrs. J. A. Musgrave, Harrisburg, was the guest speaker and related her visit to England, Scotland and Ireland; and to France, the Netherlands, Germany, Italy and Switzerland on the continent of Europe. Mrs. Musgrave related and shared the pleasure and wonder of her journey.

Members present at the meeting were: Mrs. M. A. Aydt, Mrs. Charles Barter, hostess, Mrs. Sam Bodger, president, Mrs. Fred Beane, Mrs. J. T. Colnon, 2nd vice president, Mrs. Paul Cotton, Mrs. John E. Vehicle Registrations For 8 Months Surpass Illinois Total for '56

SPRINGFIELD — The secretary of state's office reported today total motor vehicle registration for the first eight months of 1957 has already surpassed the total for the entire 12 months of 1956.

Registrations at the end of August totaled 3,557,983, compared with the 12-month total of 3,545,365 in 1956.

Passenger car registrations for the first eight months of this year totaled 2,991,722.

Other figures for the first eight months this year were trucks 423,051; buses 1,656; trailers and semi-trailers 110,779; motorcycles 22,501; and dealers 8,274.

Some automobile license plates numbered over 3,000,000 have already been issued but the secretary's office said this was a result of having to maintain separate supplies of plates at Springfield and Chicago for over-the-counter distribution.

Arizona Second State Hit by Flu Epidemic

By United Press
Arizona has become the second state hit by a flu epidemic, and mounting numbers of flu cases were reported today in all sections of the nation.

Arizona Health Commissioner C. G. Salsbury said late Tuesday that the flu rate in the state has "reached epidemic proportions."

Elementary and high schools at Clifton, Ariz., were ordered closed due to the outbreak, and at Flagstaff, school absenteeism reached about 15 per cent.

The Arizona cases, like those in most other parts of the nation, have not definitely been identified as Asian flu. Tests are underway to determine the flu strain responsible for the outbreak.

Earlier this week, Acting Director Joseph P. Kessler of the Utah state Health Department reported a flu epidemic in his state. School attendance dropped as much as 50 per cent in parts of Utah.

The U. S. Public Health Service in Washington urged manufacturers of Asian flu vaccine to distribute their supplies under priority recommendations from state and local officials.

The first major flu outbreak was reported in the populous Chicago area with about 1,000 suburban Oak Park-River Forest high school students and 480 students at Proviso high school were stricken with the ailment.

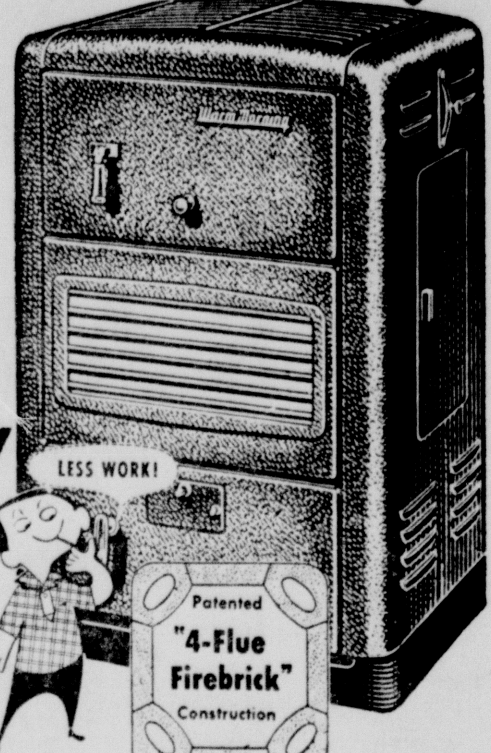

At Norman, Oklahoma, coach Bud Wilkinson and two of his University of Oklahoma football players were stricken. Wilkinson was treated at home and the players were admitted to the university infirmary.

Gasoline Storage Tank Explodes
ST. LOUIS (AP) — A gasoline explosion in a 20,000 gallon storage tank being filled from a transport truck rocked nearby homes and set off fires Tuesday night in a St. Louis County refinery and service station in Olivette.

More than 400 auxiliary firemen from seven St. Louis County municipalities used chemical equipment from the Naval Air Station and McDonnell Aircraft Corp. to fight the blaze before it was put out early today.

Secret is 4-Flue firebrick lining in Warm Morning Coal Heaters

There's the secret of how WARM MORNING Coal Heater owners enjoy such solid comfort, with less coal burned. The patented 4-flue firebrick lining—only on WARM MORNING heaters—burns off gas that ordinarily would be sent up the chimney instead of being turned into heat. It converts fresh coal into glowing, slow-burning coke. You burn less coal, you save money.

Come in and see our complete line today! Many models to choose from, heat from one to six rooms.

SEE THE "400"! The Warm Morning Model "400" is a circulator heater that ranks high in popularity!

One Way to Be Sure of Having a Coat Hanger

DETROIT — (UP) — Bartender Sid Guenett is convinced people are lazier than ever.

Guenett doesn't like wire coat hangers, so he bought a wooden one for his own use at the bar where he works. But every afternoon when he arrived, he found someone was using his wooden hanger.

Then one night as he was leaving work, he accidentally knocked the wooden hanger to the floor and let it stay there. Next day the hanger was still on the floor. Sid picked it up and hung his coat on it.

Now every night Sid drops the hanger on the floor when he quits work. It's always there when he returns the next day.

Political Reconstruction Of South Indicated by Federal Government Action

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—The uproar over racial integration in southern schools has diverted attention from the fact that the federal government is moving again toward the political reconstruction of the south.

Such action is implicit in the 1957 civil rights bill. The federal government is committed again and aggressively will undertake to enable southern Negroes to vote.

This 20th century effort is more likely to succeed than the treatment methods used by congressional zealots in trying to establish the Negro politically during the years immediately after the Civil War.

Events have been overtaking the political South for some time, slowly at first but now with increasing momentum. Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936 broke the back of southern conservative influence in the national conventions of his party.

He did that by obtaining repeal of the 100-year-old convention rule by which a Democrat was required to obtain no less than a two-thirds majority of the delegate votes to win the presidential nomination. That rule enabled a minority of southern delegates to prolong the 1924 Democratic national convention through 103 ballots in a successful veto of the nomination of Alfred E. Smith, of New York.

Twelve years later, the veto rule was dead and the South was powerless or nearly so in the nominating conventions of the party which dominated every southern state.

Meantime, scattered industrialization of the South was concentrating in such states as Alabama large numbers of voters who sometimes thought more like Democrats in Walter Reuther's Michigan than like Democrats in neighboring Mississippi.

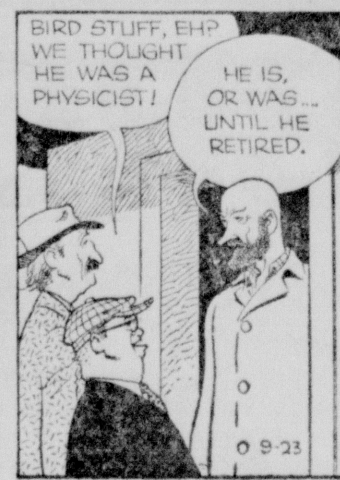

Southern politicians tried in 1948 to re-assert their political power by a third party bolt in protest against the presidential nomination of Harry S. Truman. That strategy had to fail unless the Republicans could make a creditable showing against Truman outside the South, which the Republicans were unable to do. More recently, southerners have tried to establish themselves politically by voting for Republican presidential nominees, notably for President Eisenhower. That got them not much other than disappointment and a Supreme Court they don't like. Except in Congress, the political South has been ousted from the policy-making seats of the mighty.

For example: The policy-making arm of the Democratic National Committee is an advisory committee which this week spoke its mind on the Arkansas integration dispute, denouncing Eisenhower for inaction and Gov. Orval E. Faubus for his use of the Arkansas National Guard.

Three southern advisers dissented but 15 of 25 went along with National Committee Chairman Paul M. Butler. The chairman summed it up by saying that the Democratic Party firmly supported the Supreme Court's integration de-

Lincoln Memorial Has Stalactites

WASHINGTON — Stalactites and stalagmites were recently discovered in the damp sub-basement beneath the Lincoln Memorial. Some are seven feet long.

A stalactite hangs downward. It's usually formed when water, saturated with calcium carbonate, drips from the roof of a cave, evaporates and leaves rock.

The rarer stalagmite grows upward from the puddle beneath the drip.

Normally, the formations are found in caves. There's a spectacular display several hours drive from here in the Luray Caverns of Virginia.

But they are not unheard of in man-made structures. The Lincoln Memorial's sub-basement cement has a high calcium carbonate content. The water apparently seeps down from a storm drain.

Stalactites sometimes are seen hanging under bridges and there are some in the dank corridors under the Library of Congress.

Spahn Beats Cardinals, 6-1, To Clinch Right to Start Series; Grand Slam by Aaron

By United Press
Fred Haney can make it official now—Warren Spahn will open the World Series for the Milwaukee Braves a week from today. Spahn clinched the assignment Tuesday night when he beat the St. Louis Cardinals, 6-1, in the "hangover" game of the National League race. The victory was the 36-year old left-hander's 21st—and also just about clinched his right

N. Y. Group to Make Offers To Four Clubs

NEW YORK — Mayor Robert Wagner's optimistic statement that New York may acquire a major league team to replace the Giants and Dodgers was founded on the fact that a group of local businessmen is planning to make offers to four National League teams.

These teams, the United Press learned, are the Cincinnati Redlegs, Philadelphia Phillies, Pittsburgh Pirates, and Chicago Cubs. The Redlegs already have turned down one offer from the group which, incidentally, includes a current stockholder in a National League club.

This is what the group thinks of its chances of buying one of the four teams:

CINCINNATI — The group is sure the Redlegs are for sale but that Powell Crosley does not want to sell to someone who will take it from Cincinnati.

PHILADELPHIA — The group has no idea whether Bob Carpenter will sell but will make him an offer.

PITTSBURGH — One member of the group told the United Press, "If the Redlegs do not come to New York, I believe there is a very good chance it will be the Pirates."

CHICAGO—The same member told the U. P.: "Phil Wrigley is a very wealthy man but we believe he might be induced to sell the Cubs."

to be named the major league pitcher of the year. Hank Aaron, the Braves' No. 1 candidate for most valuable player honors, again swung the big bat for the new NL champions. Aaron, whose two-run 11th-inning homer wrapped up the flag Monday night, hammered a grand slam homer off Sam Jones in the first inning and from then on it was all downhill for Spahn.

Williams Hits 38th
Ted Williams hammered out his 38th homer of the year to give the Boston Red Sox a 2-1 victory over the Washington Senators. Williams grounded out in the first inning, however, and ended a string of 16 consecutive appearances at the plate in which he reached base safely. He struck out and walked in his other two appearances to dip one point to .384.

Frank Sullivan was the beneficiary of Williams' homer, chalked up his 14th win after a fine duel with rookie Hal Griggs.

The Chicago White Sox beat the Kansas City Athletics, 7-6, the Brooklyn Dodgers played what was probably their final game of all time at Ebbets Field and scored a 2-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates, the Philadelphia Phillies whitewashed the New York Giants, 5-0, and the Cincinnati Redlegs whipped the Chicago Cubs, 4-3 and 11-9, in other games.

Ron Jackson had four hits and Nelson Fox and Earl Battey three each to lead the White Sox' 16-hit attack which brought Don Rudolph his first win and ended Kansas City's longest victory streak of the year at five.

6,702 See Finale
Danny McDevitt struck out nine and yielded only five hits for the Dodgers who bowed out at Ebbets Field before a corporal's guard of only 6,702 fans. The loss went to Ben Daniels, who made his first start in the majors after being called up from Hollywood in the Pacific Coast League.

Curt Simmons pitched a four-hitter for his 12th victory for the Phillies who kayoed Curt Barclay in 1-1-3 innings. Ed Bouchee had three hits and Bob Bowman knocked in two runs for the Phillies.

Wally Post homered in each game as the Redlegs pounded out a total of 22 hits and retained a mathematical chance of over-

Haney Pins His Series Hopes on 'Big 3' Hurlers

MILWAUKEE — Manager Fred Haney of the National League champion Milwaukee Braves today pinned his World Series hopes on his "big three," pitchers Warren Spahn, Bob Buhl, and Lew Burdette—but hadn't decided in what order.

The Braves trio of hurlers won more than half of Milwaukee's victories this season. Right-handed Burdette, apparently recovered from a slump, has won 16. Buhl, whose right shoulder is healthy again, has taken 18. And veteran southpaw Spahn is the winningest in the major leagues with 21.

Haney said he will name his starting pitcher after looking at scouting reports on the New York Yankees, who have been watched by Braves scouts for the past three weeks.

It was speculated that Spahn, a World Series veteran with the 1948 edition of the Braves at Boston, would get the first game assignment. Spahn won one of the games against Cleveland in that series.

After Spahn, it was expected that Burdette would pitch the second game at Yankee Stadium, with Buhl opening the series here Saturday, Oct. 5. But this was at best a guess because Haney was not tipping his hand.

Haney would not commit himself after the "big three." Anyone of the trio could be called back into action for the fourth game if the Braves found themselves trailing badly after the first three.

Haney said he wasn't worried about Yankee experience in the World Series.

"We played the World Series Monday night," said Haney referring to the pennant-clinching victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Houston's Lahar Coach of Week

HOUSTON, Tex. — He started playing football as a high school junior in Oklahoma City when a friend told him it could help earn a college scholarship.

He produced a winner for five years at Colgate although his team was undermanned and played only a couple of home games each year.

His six-year contract at Colgate still had three years to run when he jumped into the hotbed of Southwestern football because "I felt the challenge was too much to pass up."

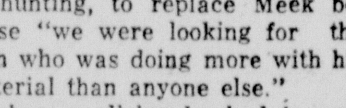

He's the United Press Coach of the week, Harold W. (Hal) Lahar of Houston, who made his debut at his new job Saturday with a 7-0 upset of powerful Miami of Florida for the biggest surprise of the first football weekend of the season.

Lahar (it rhymes with bear, and he's built like one) was a University of Oklahoma guard from 1938 through 1940 when the Sooners won 27 straight. He danced on hot coals when he came here from the security at Colgate.

His predecessor, Bill Meek, turned in a 7-2-1 record at Houston last year en route to the Missouri Valley Conference championship and then left for the greener pastures and dollars at Southern Methodist. Athletic Director Harry Fouke of Houston said he grabbed Lahar, who wasn't job-hunting, to replace Meek because "we were looking for the man who was doing more with his material than anyone else."

Lahar, realizing he had to produce quickly or else, immediately became popular with local fans who take football seriously enough to produce crowds of 50,000 to 70,000 a game.

Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Applegates Take Area Top Honors

By Pete Brown
(From reports by the Southern Illinois Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation).

Fishing in Southern Illinois the past month has been something like playing roulette: the little ball (call it "success") keeps bouncing from one lake to the other and for those playing the right hunches the payoffs have been substantial. During the past week fishermen with chips down on Carbondale city reservoir have staged a hot run on the house.

By all odds, the big winner was Dick Applegate, a Southern Illinois University student from Harrisburg, who played the reservoir for two of the heaviest strings of bass seen in the area this year.

On Sept. 17 he took out eight bass totalling 34 pounds. The next day he beached nine adding up to 40 pounds. He fished the entire length of the dam, using a "spinner type lure" (he wouldn't pin it down, but it was probably a Bunyan 66). The bass were hitting all afternoon both days.

On the whole, fishing has been exceptionally good at Carbondale reservoir, with numerous lunkers and scads of one and two pounders being taken daily. Heddon Sonics, L and S Bassmasters and spinners have accounted for most catches.

The large majority of strikes have come to fishermen casting off the rocks, parallel to, and within 10 feet of the bank.

Not satisfied with his haul at Carbondale, Dick picked up a reinforcement—his father, W. F. Applegate—and the two of them inflicted some heavy casualties at Harrisburg city lake. In two evenings, using fly rods and popping bugs, they caught 26 bass averaging a couple of pounds. Melrose Skeen caught the limit two days running at the same lake.

Fishing pressure at Pinckneyville city lake eased off when the lake road was oiled, but the road has been reopened and warfare has been resumed. The few anglers who fished during the light week, however, continued to score. The best bass caught went seven pounds.

Lake Murphysboro still looks a little green and fishing pressure has been light. But those abroad have found fairly brisk bluegill action.

Fred Beattie caught 80 bluegill and a 17 ounce redear; Clyde Shadown, of West Frankfort, boated 55 bluegill and 20 redear, and there have been many reports of bluegill strings of 20 and 30. Unconfirmed but in wide circulation was a report of one fisherman's catch of 10 one-pound crappie. He was trolling with a Sonic.

Top bass-players at Murphy were Bill Craig, Chester; Bert Sanders, Marion; Ralph Brand, St. Louis, and D. Counce, Murphysboro. The four of them took 19, the largest (one of Brand's) weighing four and one-half pounds. Marie Ellis, Fred Beattie, Kenneth Holley, and Leon Biddle, all of Murphysboro, brought in some nice channel cats and bullheads. Beattie's four-pounder topping the size lists.

Another spot attracting the increased attention of Southern Illinois fishermen is Horseshoe Lake, where dockman George Walker says bass up to five pounds have been coming in all week. Two four pounders were weighed in while he talked. The Helldiver remains the most reliable lure. Crappie fishing is also improving, but bluegill returns have been spotty. The lake looks good.

Crappie fishing at the "Chute" a river backwater at Grand Tower, has been very good and fish are running from 10 inches to a foot in length. Bluegill and bass totals have been slim. The river, checked Sept. 16, looked good, but no fishermen were observed.

Large bluegill, the major attraction at Sahara Lake, are beginning to hit again, and the lake is in excellent condition. "Very slow" is the report from Lake Moses near Benton.

The situation at Little Grassy Lake remains largely unchanged: Some bass being taken on trolled Bombers and surface plugs by persistent fishermen; crappie in seclusion.

'Catastrophic' Insurance New Type to Protect Family Against Major Medical Bills

By JACK V. FOX
United Press Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP)—When severe illness strikes the average American home, the reaction almost invariably is: "Doctor, do whatever is necessary and we will pay for it somehow."

That happened in approximately a million families last year. Many of them had medical bills that exceeded the father's total income for the year. The bills ran in the thousands of dollars for doctors' fees, surgery, hospitalization, medicines, laboratory tests, X-rays, nurses.

Of those million families, their health insurance covered only about 25 per cent of the cost. Many were put in financial straits through which they will struggle the rest of their lives. And many of the illnesses were of the type that are prolonged.

That is a spectre which most of us have worried about. The need to do something about it has led to the booming of a new type of health insurance which is generally known as "catastrophic" or "major medical."

Backed by Government, Unions

In the year 1952 only 689,000 persons had such insurance. Now, five years later, the total covered by major medical insurance is around 10 million. It has the hearty endorsement of the government, labor unions and many of the nation's big corporations.

Here, in brief, is how such a policy works:
The insured and his family are covered for expenses up to a very liberal limit, perhaps $5,000 or even $10,000.

His smaller medical costs are not insured. That is the so-called "deductible" amount. It may be $250 and all expenses up to that amount must be borne otherwise.

It is similar to automobile deductible insurance.

But once the medical expenses reach, say $250, the insurance takes effect and goes to the limit. In virtually all such policies, however, the patient must pay 20 or 25 per cent of the bill himself while the insurance company pays 80 to 75 per cent.

Deters Unnecessary Bills

The necessity for this so-called "co-insurance" provision is fairly obvious. It deters the patient from staying in a hospital longer than is necessary, demanding treatments, examinations, drugs and services that are superfluous — but which he might demand if "somebody" were paying.

This is the point on which most criticism of major medical insurance is based. Its critics say it is inflationary, that doctors and patients will conspire to boost bills. They say that may be particularly applicable to doctors, faced with the choice between an expensive and inexpensive treatment and taking the costly one.

Insurance companies themselves are concerned about this possibility, but they say the ethics of the profession will cope with it. Also, the size of such bills must be "reasonable, necessary and customary." Appeals against alleged overcharging may be made to medical societies.

The cost of such insurance depends on the amount that is deductible, the maximum benefit payment that can be made and the income of the insured. The cost of a fairly typical major medical policy in one corporation for a factory worker and his family was $70.20 yearly.

Preventive Medicine Uncovered
These plans generally do not cover preventive medicine—regular checkups, inoculations, fitting of eyeglasses or hearing aids or most dental work.

Most of those with major medical insurance decide to have some other basic insurance that covers small hospital and surgical bills.

The misuse and abuse of major medical insurance obviously could spiral into impossible costs that would raise premiums above the reach of most persons. As one insurance company said, "while our resources stand behind each policy, the company in the long run must collect enough total premiums to support the total payments."

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D. D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Pine trees grow straight and tall in the forests. They reach up toward heaven for light and air. Although they may start to grow crooked, nature straightens out final growth. The trees of the forest seem to brook no obstacles. A seed dropped in the crevice of a rock will grow in spite of its precarious location.

Men do not show such a natural tendency to grow straight toward heaven. Human beings have the freedom to choose the way that they will go. They follow whims, fads and fantasies. They shift their courses with changing interests. Yet there are some who do not seek momentary pleasures.

Som folk can withstand the temptations of the world. Many stand up against the hardships and the buffeting of man-made storms. They stand straight in the crowds of men because they are growing toward God.
